According to Yarchover the alleged political instructions to Ku Klux voters were based upon racial and religious prejudice, orders being to vote against Catholics and Jews. It was pointed out specifically, Yarchover suid, that Mayor Hylan was a Catholic and Henry H. Curran, formerly President of Manhattan, who ran against the Mayor, was a Protestant. At least two judges, he said, also were mentioned, The documents showed also, Tarchover continued, that a project was afoot to purchase property on Long Island, af a cost of $375,000, for New York district headquarters for the Klan. Another document, he said, was an attack on Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler of Atlanta, who last week was married to Stephen Grow, an Atlanta motion picture man. Mrs. Grow formerly was head of the publicity department of the Klan and recently had been at odds with some of the Klan afficials.
